

Now what can you do with the decoy you've just built?

A) You have a sturdy decoy which you can use like any other regular decoy. But you don't have to buy expensive flocked decoys that will get damaged and become useless over time. If you already have some battered ones, use them. It is easier though to pull the sock over unflocked dekes. You've seen the picture...

B) You have a decoy which you can use as sentinel up in trees. Just lift it up in trees on a plastic tube the same diameter as the plastic tube inside the decoy or put them on a stick...
